A rewarding year for members

Chairman's comment

“Thank you to our members and employers”

Choice of Fund was just one of a number of high-profile issues affecting the superannuation industry over the past twelve months but undoubtedly was the most significant, at least in terms of general interest and coverage.

Like most funds, we have been considering many aspects of our operations in the context of this legislation. It is important to ensure that we not only perform well for existing members, but that the Fund remains attractive to others. This will ensure we can continue to grow and pursue the economies of scale and improvements in products and service that this brings.

You are familiar with some of the results of our deliberations. In February 2005, we introduced Equipsuper Personal as a vehicle for developing superannuation and pension products to suit individuals. You can expect to see more activity there in the year ahead.

We changed our administration service provider to CitiStreet and transferred our group insurance to Hannover Life. These have been huge undertakings for the Fund and have required a substantial commitment of staff time and resources.

The transition to Hannover Life is complete and we trust heralds the beginning of a long and constructive relationship that will prove very beneficial to members. The transition to CitiStreet is substantially behind us and we look forward to enhancing our member and employer services and communications supported by CitiStreet's excellent people and technology.

Another important event for Equipsuper was the receipt of an approved trustee licence from the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA). This means we are now a "public offer" fund, enabling members of the public to join the Fund without requiring an employer sponsor. You can now invite friends and relatives to share in the benefits of belonging to Equipsuper.

While managing these issues and changes has been our primary focus over the past year, our investment team has continued to deliver very solid returns to members in what was a fairly volatile investment market, particularly over the six months to 30 June 2005.

Looking forward, we believe we offer the vital ingredients required to attract and, above all, build whole-of-life relationships with our members. We will constantly monitor our performance against member expectations and the offerings from other funds, enhancing our products and services where necessary to stay at the forefront of the industry.

Finally, as this will be my last annual report to you as Chairman of Equipsuper, I would like to thank my fellow directors during the eleven years that I have been Chairman for their valued contributions and genuine commitment at all times to the best interest of our members. I also thank Equipsuper's employees, many of whom have been associated with the Fund for substantial periods. As a group, they have made their own contribution to the Fund's success and continued development.

But most importantly, I want to thank our members and employers for the many positive comments I have received throughout the years, for the occasional (but equally valuable) critical view, for their continued active interest in the fund and, most of all, for trusting Equipsuper with such an important aspect of their long-term financial plans. It has been a pleasure and a privilege to play a role in that process and I wish my successor, the Fund and all of you great success in the years ahead.

Investment returns

Equipsuper was among the market leaders, achieving returns that exceeded reputable benchmarks in most major asset classes. Its Equipselect options produced returns to Equipsuper Corporate accumulation members of:

Growth Plus	Balanced Growth	Conservative	Cash
15.6	13.1	8.4	4.8

The table (right) compares our performance with the five best long-term performers at 30 June 2005 in the Mercer Pooled (Balanced) Fund Survey, published for 30 June 2005.

Comparison of Equipsuper Balanced Growth option's performance

Measured against the funds achieving the best 5-Year returns to 30 June 2005 in the Mercer Pooled (Balanced) Fund Survey.

Fund	1 Year	5 Years
Maple-Brown Abbott PST	12.0	7.9
Equipsuper Balanced Growth	13.1	7.7
Tyndall Premier Growth	11.7	6.6
Suncorp Balanced	14.4	6.4
Citigroup Balanced Trust	12.8	6.4
Optimix Balanced	13.0	6.2

* Comparison chart shows after-tax returns after management fees are taken out. In the case of Equipsuper, it is net of the 0.15% per annum asset-based administration fee, but not net of the 95 cents per member per week flat fee.

Administration

An alliance of CitiStreet Australia and Watson Wyatt successfully tendered to provide member administration services to Equipsuper. CitiStreet is the primary service provider in the alliance.

Insurance

Hannover Life Re of Australasia Ltd became Equipsuper's group insurer on 1 February 2005 after completion of an extensive tender process.

Some members are still covered by other insurers through agreement with their employers.

Compliance

Equipsuper's application for a new Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) approved trustee licence was successful and became valid on 1 July 2005.

If the subsequent application to licence the Fund is also successful, it will mean the Fund is public offer. That will mean anyone can join the Fund as a superannuation or Allocated Pension member without requiring an employer sponsor.

Marketing

The Fund continued to grow, with membership up by more than 4,000. Assets also increased to close to $3 billion on 30 June 2005 and subsequently passed that mark with the addition of Mayne Group members and assets on 1 July.

Equipsuper's marketing activities were subdued in the second half of the 2004-05 financial year by the focus on the administration transition to CitiStreet.

Communication

Equipsuper's communications activities in the latter half of the financial year supported various significant changes, including the changes of insurer and administrator and the introduction of Choice of Fund for both members and employers. Communications was also involved in systems development for the management of the Fund's growing range of publications and forms.

Member education and pre-retirement seminars

Members were keen to keep up with change through the Fund's active member education program. There was increased demand for workplace presentations from major employers and pre-retirement seminars achieved record attendances throughout Australia.

Equipsuper's member education resources will be substantially enhanced with a more comprehensive on-line library later in 2005 when the new website is launched.

Member services

Day-to-day member services transferred to CitiStreet from Mercer Human Resources Consulting on 1 July 2005.

There have been some temporary flow-on effects from this change, which were described in the June edition of the member newsletter, Outperform.

The most substantial effect has been the temporary non-availability of the member's area of the website. This service will be progressively restored to members as their records are transferred to CitiStreet and validated.

Looking forward with confidence

Chief Executive Officer's comment

“Communicating
on a more personal level”

Last year in this report I commented that we had just experienced a year of dramatic change for the superannuation industry. I can repeat that message with even greater emphasis for the 12 months just past. For many reasons the Equipsuper of today is substantially different to the Fund of a year ago. Some of these changes have been due to external forces and others have been the result of decisions we have had to make about how the Fund can best operate in pursuit of member's interests over the long term.

The major changes we have made in the past twelve months were inevitable, whether or not the Federal Government legislated for choice of fund. An ability to retain members by offering value-for-money, superior products and services is one measure of a high-quality super fund and our efforts have been concentrated on making it easy and worthwhile for both members and employers to participate in this Fund. We also have to make sure that our strategic partners will be able to keep pace with a rapidly changing environment and have systems and technologies that will facilitate robust and flexible service provision for many years to come. These latter factors are less visible when major decisions and changes are made, but are just as important as those which have a high public profile, such as the Choice of Fund legislation.

You may have already read in our newsletters or this report about the major changes in outsourced service providers and in our regulatory status. In addition we now have clearly defined Equipsuper Corporate and Equipsuper Personal divisions within the Fund, enabling us to offer you greater facility and flexibility in managing your super. Our personal superannuation and allocated pension products are now more capable of supporting the changing lifestyles and work patterns of the Australian workforce and we have introduced new fee scales for these products that recognise the benefit of building your super with this fund.

On this theme, fee levels and disclosure have been much in the news in recent months as a result of the Choice legislation and the barrage of advertising and commentary that accompanied it. Equipsuper continues to offer very competitive fees without compromising the quality of member services and communications. This is despite the upward pressure on costs being felt by every fund, as legislative and regulatory demands increase and the management, administration and communications tasks created by these demands became more complex, costly and frequent.

Another area that does receive a high public profile is investment performance and I am pleased that the five-year returns across all our investment options continue to compare favourably with any fund in Australia and in several areas we clearly outperform the market.

Looking forward, product development will remain an important focus for us over the next year, as we strive to make joining and remaining with Equipsuper even more attractive in the future. When we launch our new website in the next few months you will experience a new view of Equipsuper with a much richer library of information and improved ability to transact with the Fund. The move to become a public offer fund - one anyone can join as an individual - will in time open up new avenues of growth.

In other words, we are ready for the new retail superannuation environment, where you will have greater control over your super. We have recognised that every member is different and our aim is to make dealing with Equipsuper a much more personal experience. Therefore, promoting greater and easier communication between you and the Fund and creating smart products and services to meet your needs are the cornerstones of our business strategy.

Equipsuper's role is to help you manage and maximise your retirement savings and to provide greater financial security during your working life. The greatest contributing factors to your financial security are strong investment performance, a clear understanding of how to pursue your goals, flexible services and competitive fees. These factors will always remain our key objectives.

Investment performance

Aiming to outperform

Equipsuper's nine investment options offer considerable flexibility and choice so you can tailor your superannuation investments to suit your personal and financial goals.

Our investment team pre-selects asset allocations for the four Equipselect options. This range of options achieves varying balances between growth and risk, according to their asset allocation. You can also choose your own asset allocations using our Youselect options.

You may choose a mix of several Equipselect and/or Youselect options to customise your investment portfolio. You can adjust your investments at any time by contacting our Helpline. You should only make investment choices and switches in the context of a clearly defined investment strategy.

Once you can log in to our new website, you will be able to switch between investment options on-line. In the meantime, you can use the "Investment Choice Variation" form. We do not charge switching fees.

Unit prices

The value of your investments is calculated weekly based on a unit price. Unit prices may be calculated more frequently, or we may temporarily suspend activity, if investment markets are volatile. When you invest with Equipsuper, your money buys a number of units in each of your nominated or default options. You buy units at the current unit price. Unit prices go up and down according to investment performance. These movements are reflected in your account balance.

As you or your employer make contributions, you buy more units at whatever the prices are at the time your contribution is processed.

At Equipsuper, unit buying prices (when contributions are received) are identical to the selling prices (when benefits are paid). We take out investment fees and tax before setting our unit prices. You can find current and historical unit price information on our website.

We expect that unit prices will be updated daily from 1 November 2005.

Equipsuper investment options

Unit prices as at 30/06/2004 and 30/06/2005

The following table shows unit prices set for each investment option on 30 June 2004 and 30 June 2005. It also shows the percentage change in the value of the units for each option over the period.

Equipsuper's unit prices are set each week. Unit prices for all investment options were revalued to $1 on 1 July 2005 as part of the administration transition.

Past performance

While historical performance does not guarantee levels of returns, or even positive returns for any investment option, we believe our data for the past five years underscores our capacity to deliver attractive returns over extended time frames.

Derivatives

Derivatives are investments with values based on other securities or assets e.g. options to buy a share at a fixed price in the future. The Equipsuper "Investment Strategy Manual" permits the selective use of derivatives as part of its investment strategy. Derivatives enable us to hedge against risk by increasing or decreasing exposure to asset classes without having to buy underlying securities.

Socially Responsible Investments (SRI)

For investment options other than the SRI option, the primary investment criteria for Equipsuper take into account the expected return and performance of the underlying companies. Equipsuper may consider social, ethical and environmental considerations or labour standards of companies where these may materially impact investment performance objectives. For the investment criteria used for our SRI option, you should refer to the Equipsuper PDS.

The cost impact of change on members

The Fund has continued to deliver strong investment returns to members over the 2004-05 financial year, despite meeting some one-off costs associated with operational and legislative changes.

Operating a superannuation fund in a way that ensures high standards of governance and compliance has become more expensive in recent years, largely due to increasingly demanding regulation.

In addition, Equipsuper has undertaken substantial transitions of administration and group insurance to ensure the Fund is well-positioned to prosper in the more competitive environment of the future. These transitions have incurred some substantial one-off costs.

Despite those demands, we have been able to review and reshape some of our products to reduce fees for many members. In Equipsuper Corporate, we have maintained fees at current levels, even though many other industry funds have increased their fees.

In Equipsuper Personal, superannuation and Allocated Pension members have benefited from revised fee structures that have reduced overall annual costs for many.

The Financial Services Reform Act 2001 (FSRA) forms part of the broader Corporations Act and is designed to create a more uniform information advice and disclosure regime for the whole of the financial services sector. FSRA has a direct impact on members.

Last year, we reported that meeting the new FSRA disclosure requirements had required reconstruction of our member communications materials.

Those costs continued to impact on the Fund in the 2004-05 financial year. However, we have now established production procedures and systems that will reduce the on-going annual cost of managing our print communications in a way that complies with the FSRA regulations.

This year's key facts on super

New thresholds

The government thresholds applied to superannuation are annually indexed. The thresholds for the 2005-06 financial year are:

Reasonable Benefit Limit (RBL)

Your RBL is the maximum amount of benefit you can receive at concessional tax rates.

Benefits taken as a lump sum	$648,946
At least 50% of benefits taken as a complying pension	$1,297,886

Surcharge thresholds

Although the superannuation surcharge was abolished from 1 July 2005, surcharge amounts accruing from the 2004-2005 financial year may be deducted from member accounts in 2005-2006. Those amounts will be calculated based on the 2004-2005 income thresholds shown in this table. For superannuation purposes, in the 2004-2005 year high-income earners were those earning an adjusted taxable income in excess of $99,710 a year. This was paid as a surcharge in addition to the 15% contributions tax on employer and salary sacrifice contributions.

Lower Limit	$99,710
Upper Limit	$121,075

Age-based employer contribution limits

These are the maximum tax deductible amounts that your employer can contribute, including salary sacrifice, to your superannuation in any one year. They are based on your age.

Under 35 years	$14,603
35-49 years	$40,560
50 years and over	$100,587
Zero tax rate threshold for certain Eligible Termination Payments (ETP)	$129,751

New legislation

The government has introduced a number of changes to superannuation, with some new announcements in the May 2005 budget, in addition to the regular indexed adjustments to thresholds. This is a concise outline of those changes and updates.

Choice of Fund

From 1 July 2005, many employees were entitled to choose their super fund. However, this did not apply to all our members. Those whose super arrangements are prescribed in a state industrial award or Australian workplace agreement, or who are in a defined benefit plan may not have Choice of Fund.

Perhaps the most important late development prior to the introduction of Choice of Fund was the clarification of minimum insurance requirements for funds nominated as Employer Funds. To comply with those requirements, we have had to increase the cover (and therefore the premium) for members joining the Fund from 1 July 2005 who had insufficient cover to meet the mandated minimum.

We have up to three years to implement this change for members working for employers participating in the Fund prior to 1 July 2005.

We believe Equisuper will benefit from Choice of Fund. Our successful application with the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) to become a public offer fund means we are well positioned to service both members who are employer sponsored and those who exercise choice as individuals.

The launch of Equisuper Personal in February enables us to deliver a product to help members who want to stay with us throughout their career to carry our products and services with them.

We circulated a substantial amount of information on Choice of Fund in the weeks leading up to 1 July to both members and employers.

Surcharge eliminated

One of the most significant initiatives affecting superannuation from the May 2005 budget was the abolition of the superannuation surcharge.

Its elimination from 1 July 2005 makes saving for retirement more tax-effective for higher income earners than it was previously.

Portability rules

These regulations go hand-in-hand with Choice of Fund and prescribe how members can rollover super from one fund to another.

Our philosophy is to support the basic tenets and spirit of Choice of Fund, reflected in the strategy for Equisuper Personal.

This means if a member is having employer contributions paid to another fund and wishes to roll money into another fund, we will allow withdrawal of 100% of the member's account balance or benefit. If a member wishes to only partially roll money out of the Fund and continues to receive employer contributions into their Equisuper account, we will require the remaining balance to be at least $5,000.

Fee disclosure

From 1 July 2005, we are obliged to adopt the new fee disclosure requirements prescribed by ASIC for all super funds.

In a nutshell, the ASIC guidelines are designed to ensure that all super funds disclose their fees in the same way. For example, we must include a sample fee calculation used in our new Product Disclosure Statements based on an account balance of $50,000.

We also include additional information on fees, such as an indication of the amount we may pay in performance bonuses to investment managers over the financial year.

Other changes simply relate to the formatting of tables. None of the changes materially affect the content of our PDSs.

The new regulations also require the inclusion of a prescribed statement that substantially says that paying higher fees may impact on investment returns over time.

The "work test" removed

The Federal Government from 1 July 2005 has removed the so-called "work test" from super, meaning if you work after you reach your preservation age, you are now allowed to supplement your income with withdrawals from super.

This forms part of a wider plan to lift workforce participation among older Australians by removing disincentives presented by rigid tax and social security rules.

One proviso is that if you are still working, you cannot cash out your lump-sum benefit, but there is no cap applied to your income stream.

You also have the option of temporarily turning off your income stream from super if you are working.

Choice of Fund considerations

If your workplace offers Choice of Fund, you may be reviewing your superannuation options. Four key criteria you should consider are:

- > Investment performance;
- > Insurance;
- > Fees; and
- > Services.

We believe Equisuper is very competitive in these areas and we will continue to enhance our products and services in the future.

Equisuper Personal now allows you to stay with us when you move jobs or even take a break from the workforce. For more information, you should obtain a copy of the Equisuper Personal PDS from our website or request a copy via our Helpline 1800 682 626.

General information

Competitive fees enhance your returns

Administration fees

Equisuper offers very competitive fees.

Your administration fees are comprised of:

- › a flat weekly fee of 95 cents;
- › an asset-based fee of 0.15% per annum of your investments.

Asset-based investment expenses vary according to investment choice (see table right).

Other fees such as termination and family law are detailed in your Product Disclosure Statement or Member Guide Book.

Inactive members paid 50 cents a week in 2003-04, but have paid 95 cents from 1 July 2004.

If your fees are covered by your employer, it is stated in Part 1 of your Benefit Statement.

Insurance premiums

If you are insured under the standard Equisuper Corporate group cover, you pay $1.28 per week for the first unit of cover for death and Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) or 77 cents a week for death cover only. The value of a unit is dependant on your age and details are provided in your Equisuper Corporate Product Disclosure Statement.

If you select an amount of cover in excess of one unit, you pay an additional premium based on your occupation and the number of units for which you are accepted. If Salary Continuance insurance is available to you and you take it up, your premium is based on age, occupation and level of cover.

Insurance plans vary according to arrangements between Equisuper and your employer and any conditions our insurer may have placed on an individual's cover.

You should check your PDS to confirm the insurance schedule applicable to you. If your employer covers your insurance premiums, it is stated in Part 1 of your Benefit Statement.

Equisuper regularly reviews fees and insurance premiums across all our products to ensure we treat all members consistently and fairly.

Investment fees

Investment expenses cover the cost of us investing your employer and additional voluntary contributions and rollover money. The exact expense charge will depend on the choice of investment options you have made (see table below):

For comprehensive information on fees, you should refer to the Equisuper Corporate PDS.

Investment Option	Investment Fee % per annum
Growth Plus	0.50
Balanced Growth	0.45
Conservative	0.35
Cash	0.10
Australian Shares	0.40
Overseas Shares	0.65
Property	0.75
Fixed Interest	0.40
Socially Responsible Investments	1.00

The fees for specific investment options shown in this table are an average percentage of assets and will vary according to actual expenses incurred for each asset class. These fees include amounts charged by external managers in underlying wholesale trust structures. Some managers may receive performance bonuses paid on outperforming specific investment benchmarks.

Preserved benefits

Part of certain benefits must be preserved (or kept) in an approved superannuation arrangement, such as the Equisuper Personal or another superannuation fund, under Government regulations.

A preserved benefit always belongs to you, but you are not able to receive it in cash unless you:

- › have reached age 65;
- › have reached age 60 and ceased an employment arrangement;
- › have retired permanently from the workforce and have reached your preservation age*;
- › die or become totally and permanently disabled;
- › have a preserved benefit of less than $200; or
- › are an eligible temporary resident departing permanently from Australia.

You may be able to access some of your benefits early if:

- › you have received Commonwealth income support payments for at least 6 months and are unable to meet immediate family living expenses; or
- › the Australian Prudential Regulation Authority (APRA) approves the payment on specified grounds.

Non-preserved benefits

Non-preserved benefits may be paid to you in cash when you terminate employment (including any non-preserved transfer-in amounts).

* This is age 55 if you were born prior to 1 July 1960 and increases annually to age 60 if you were born after 30 June 1964.

SG minimum benefit

Your minimum benefit required under the Superannuation Guarantee (SG) legislation is calculated as;

the sum of:

- › your leaving service benefit at 30 June 1992 together with investment earnings; plus
- › the sum of your employer contributions required under the Superannuation Guarantee (SG) legislation since 30 June 1992 applicable for your period of membership at the following rates, together with investment earnings (see table below);
- › your personal contributions into the Fund plus investment earnings;
- › Any amounts rolled over to the Fund plus investment earnings.

Less

- › tax, expenses and surcharge where applicable and family law amounts.

Membership Period	SG Rate
1/7/1992 - 31/12/1992	4%
1/1/1993 - 30/6/1995	5%
1/7/1995 - 30/6/1998	6%
1/7/1998 - 30/6/2000	7%
1/7/2000 - 30/6/2002	8%
1/7/2002 onwards	9%

Unresolved issues

Equipsuper always tries to resolve any complaints to the satisfaction of all concerned and in the best interests of all its members. However, if you have followed the steps outlined above and are not satisfied with the outcome, you must request another internal review by the Equipsuper Trustee's Appeals and Review Committee. If the matter is not then resolved to your satisfaction you may be able to take the matter to the Superannuation Complaints Tribunal (SCT). The SCT is an independent body set up by the Federal Government to help resolve superannuation complaints for Fund members and beneficiaries.

If the SCT accepts your complaint, it will try to help you and Equipsuper to reach a mutual agreement. If this is not successful the SCT will then make a decision that is binding on all parties.

There are time limits for lodging complaints with the SCT. For more information about the Tribunal's requirements and time limits you can call the SCT on 1300 780 808 from anywhere in Australia for the cost of a local call, or write to the Tribunal:

Lost members and unclaimed money

You become a lost member if mail sent to your last-known address is returned twice. When that happens we notify the Australian Taxation Office and your name is added to the Lost Members Register, from where you can obtain information about any superannuation benefits retained by funds that have lost contact with you.

If you are over 65, a benefit is payable to you and we have lost contact with you, your benefit is transferred to the relevant state unclaimed monies fund where it is held on your behalf until you claim it.

Family Law Fees

If you are involved in a Family Law matter you may have incurred the following costs. If this applies to you the fees that have been deducted from your benefit will be set out in an insert to this statement. Any fees paid directly to the Fund are not illustrated on this statement.

The fee that is applied when your spouse lodges a request for information is $121 (incl GST) and is paid directly to the Fund.

The fee that is applied is $510. If the member account balance is to be paid to a non-member spouse, we will deduct the total amount from the newly created spouse account when we create that account. If a portion of the member account remains with the Fund, we deduct $255 from both the member and non-member accounts at the time the non-member account is created. If both spouses are already members of the Fund, then the $510 fee will be split and deducted from both account balances at the time the splitting transactions are completed.

Eligible Rollover Fund (ERF)

We may pay your benefit to an Eligible Rollover Fund (ERF) if you have left employment, your benefit has transferred into Equipsuper Personal and if your benefit is less than $1,000. This will occur if:

- after transferring from Equipsuper Corporate, you have been a member of Equipsuper Personal for at least 90 days from the date of your transfer; and
- you do not have any type of insurance cover; and
- you are not a former member of the Water Industry Super Fund.

If your benefit is paid to an ERF, it will no longer be with Equipsuper Personal and can only be claimed by contacting the ERF to which it was paid.

An ERF is a fund approved by APRA, which can receive benefits payable to members of superannuation funds who cannot be located or who do not respond to letters regarding payment of their benefits. We have selected AMP as the Equipsuper ERF. Contact details are:

Fund Administrator

AMP Eligible Rollover Fund
Locked Bag 5330, Parramatta, NSW, 2124
Phone: 133 888

Subject to the conditions above, Equipsuper makes monthly transfers to the AMP Eligible Rollover Fund. Being transferred to an ERF may affect your benefits because you will become a member of the AMP ERF. If Equipsuper can provide AMP with your current contact details, AMP will provide you with its current Product Disclosure Statement (PDS), which outlines all the operational details of its fund. You can contact AMP for a copy of its PDS.

AMP credits a low rate of interest (in some years 0%), where the balance is below a certain amount specified in AMP's governing rules. AMP will apply a different fee structure. AMP is required to "member protect" your benefit. This means that administration charges cannot exceed investment earnings on your account in a reporting period. However, indirect management fees may be deducted from gross fund earnings. You should refer to the AMP PDS for circumstances in which fees may apply.

AMP invests your benefit in a low-risk strategy, predominantly cash and short-term fixed interest investments. You should evaluate whether the strategy is appropriate to your specific circumstances. AMP does not offer insured benefits in the event of death or disability.

Staying with us when you're on the move

You can stay with Equisuper when you leave your job. When you leave, your super benefit transfers to Equisuper Personal, where your investment options can remain the same and you receive the normal tax advantages of investing in super. There are no entry or exit fees for Equisuper Personal.

We will send an Equisuper Personal PDS to you when we transfer your money so you can understand its different fees and exercise any insurance continuation options you may have. Death, Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD) and salary continuance cover are available in Equisuper Personal.

Your money can remain in Equisuper Personal until your retirement if you wish.

Director Elections

The structure of Equisuper and its board are described in "Our Financial Services Guide" available from our website or Helpline.

Member directors are elected by a ballot of all eligible members to hold office for three years unless they leave the Fund, voluntarily resign from office, become disqualified from holding office, or are removed from office by a majority vote of all members. Casual vacancies for member directors i.e. if a member director leaves office, are usually filled through an election.

Employer directors are elected by a ballot of all eligible employers (where each employer has voting rights in direct proportion to the number of Equisuper members it employs) to hold office for three years under basically the same arrangements as for member directors. They cannot, however, be removed by a majority vote of all members. They can be removed by their company in a General Meeting.

If a casual vacancy arises within 12 months of an election being held, the trustee board may respectively fill the vacancy for a member or employer director until the next election is due with the person who received the next-highest number of votes in the previous member or employer director ballot. Where a vacancy must be filled at short notice, the member directors can choose a suitable replacement among the alternate directors or, if there are no alternates, the Board will choose an appropriate director.

Trustee Expenses and Liabilities

The directors and Equisuper itself as a Company may be reimbursed and indemnified (protected) from the Fund for all expenses and liabilities which they incur in administering the Fund. However, this does not include:

- › liabilities arising from the trustee's fraud or dishonesty, intentional or reckless neglect, or intentional or reckless default;
- › amounts such as penalties, for which indemnification is not permitted under legislation.

Changing the Rules

As circumstances change from time to time, the Rules governing the Fund may need to be amended. Equisuper has the power to amend the provisions of the Rules. All amendments must comply with the amendment power in the Rules and also with any applicable legislation.

Equisuper must inform affected members in writing of the nature, purpose and effect of a significant amendment as soon as practicable after it has been made.

Loans and Withdrawals from the Fund

It is not possible to arrange a loan from the Fund or use your expected benefit as security for a loan.

Forfeited benefits

Your interest in Equisuper may be forfeited to Equisuper if you:

- › are under a legal incapacity;
- › assign, mortgage or charge your interest in Equisuper.

This means you are no longer legally entitled to the benefits.

Subject to the provisions of the Rules and legislation governing the payment of benefits, forfeited benefits may be paid to you or any of your dependants at the discretion of Equisuper. The intention of this provision is to ensure that your interest in Equisuper is used to provide for your retirement or to maintain your dependants (and not to pay your creditors, for example).
