Insurance in your super

Insurance can help provide you and your family with peace of mind. The cover that you get with your super can help look after your dependants if you pass away, or can provide an income if you become disabled and are unable to work. Equip Corporate offers you the flexibility to choose a level of cover that suits your needs.

This guide explains the types of insurance cover offered to members of Equip Corporate and provides a summary of the terms and conditions of the insurance policies taken out by Equip Super. It is important that you read this guide before making decisions about your insurance cover. Words in bold have particular meanings and are explained at the end of this guide.

Payment of an insured benefit is subject to the terms and conditions of the insurance policies issued by MetLife Insurance Limited (ABN 75 004 274 882, AFSL 238096; the insurer) taken out by Equip Super to cover its members. For a copy of the full policy terms and conditions, please contact our Helpline.

Types of cover available

Death cover provides a lump sum insured benefit for your dependants should you pass away. You may also receive an advance payment of your benefit if you are diagnosed with a terminal illness.

Total and permanent disablement (TPD) cover provides a lump sum benefit to help you cover your financial commitments if an illness or injury causes you to be unlikely to ever return to work.

Income protection (IP) cover provides you with a monthly income if you're injured or ill and aren't able to work. IP helps you continue paying your expenses while you are unable to work for up to 2 years.

Receiving automatic cover in Equip Super

You may receive basic death and TPD cover automatically in Equip Super. You won't automatically receive any IP cover.

Death and TPD cover options

Equip Corporate offers the flexibility to adjust your death and TPD cover to suit your needs. These options are explained in more detail later in this guide.

Basic cover provides you with cover based on your salary and how far you are from age 65.

Additional voluntary cover is available to apply for if you need more than just basic cover. It is available in units of $10,000, with a minimum of 5 units and a maximum of 50 units.

IP cover options

You can apply for IP cover of 75% or 85% of your salary, with a benefit period of up to 2 years, and your choice of a 30, 60, or 90 day waiting period.

24/7 cover

The insurance cover in Equip Super applies 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Death and TPD cover

Who is eligible for death and TPD cover in Equip Super

To be eligible for death and TPD cover in Equip Super, you must be:

- an Australian citizen, a New Zealand citizen living and working in Australia, the holder of a permanent Australian visa, or living in Australia on a temporary skilled work visa; and
- older than 15; and
- younger than 65.

These are known as the eligibility conditions. You need to meet these conditions to be able to receive, apply for, or maintain your death and TPD cover in Equip Super.

Default death and TPD cover

Your basic death and TPD cover is 13.5% of your salary times your future service.

Future service is the number of years, with months counting as part of a year, until you turn 65.

Any basic cover you receive automatically is limited to $700,000.

Any cover over $700,000 will require you to complete a Personal Statement. Depending on the amount of cover you're applying for, you may be asked for additional health evidence or to answer some further questions. Our insurer will decide whether to accept your application.

When your default cover starts

Provided you meet the eligibility and automatic acceptance conditions, your default death and TPD cover will start automatically when you join Equip Super.

What are the conditions on automatic cover

To be eligible to receive cover automatically:

- you must meet the eligibility conditions; and
- you must not already have another account in the Fund; and
- you must not be applying for, intending to apply for, or have been paid a TPD or terminal illness benefit from another super fund or Australian life insurer; and
- you must not have previously advised us that you don't want to receive automatic cover; and
- we must receive an employer contribution for you within 120 days of starting with your new employer.

These are known as the automatic acceptance conditions. You need to meet these conditions to be able to automatically receive basic cover without having to provide health evidence.

If you're not at work on the date your default death and TPD cover starts, it will be limited cover until you have been at work for 30 consecutive days.

Limited cover means that you are not covered for pre-existing conditions. You're covered for any illness diagnosed, or injury that occurs, after your cover starts.

How to calculate default cover

Tim is 45 years old with a salary of $100,000. Tim will turn 65 in 20 years. His cover would be calculated as:

$$\begin{aligned} &= 13.5\% \times $100,000 \times 20 \text{ years (to age 65)} \\ &= $320,000 \end{aligned}$$

How to change your cover

We offer flexibility to adjust your death and TPD cover so that it better suits your individual circumstances. You can:

- apply for additional voluntary death and TPD cover;
- decrease your cover;
- cancel your TPD cover so you have death cover only; or
- cancel your death and TPD cover.

You can have different levels of death and TPD cover, but you can't have more TPD cover than death cover.

Apply for additional voluntary death and TPD cover

If you need more than your default death and TPD cover, you can apply for additional voluntary death and TPD cover at any time. This additional voluntary cover is available in units of $10,000 and you can apply for a minimum of five units and a maximum of 50 units.

You will need to complete a Change insurance cover form and a Personal Statement, both of which are available on our website equipsuper.com.au

Our insurer will decide whether to accept your application as part of the underwriting process. The increase in your cover will apply from the date the insurer advises us.

A special opportunity to increase your death and TPD cover when you first join

Within 120 days of starting with your employer, you can apply for additional voluntary death and TPD cover without having to complete the Personal Statement.

If the additional voluntary cover you apply for is greater than one third of your basic cover, if you apply more than 120 days after starting with your employer, or if your cover exceeds $700,000, then you will need to complete the Personal Statement and be approved by our insurer.

Decrease your cover

You can decrease your death and TPD cover at any time by completing a Change insurance cover form. This form is available from our website equipsuper.com.au or you can call our Helpline on 1800 682 626 to ask for a copy.

The decrease in your cover will be effective from the date we receive your request.

Cancel your cover

You can cancel your death and/or TPD cover if you no longer need it:

- by logging into your account online; or
- over the phone by calling our Helpline on 1800 682 626; or
- by completing the Change insurance cover form.

If we receive your request to cancel your cover within 28 days of it starting, then we'll refund any premium you have paid and you won't be able to make a claim on the cover you had for that period. Otherwise, we'll cancel your cover from the date we receive your request. You won't be able to claim for any events that occur after the date your cover has been cancelled.

After your cover has been cancelled, any application for cover will be subject to underwriting and our insurer will decide whether to accept your application.

Maximum cover amount

Whilst death cover has no limit, TPD cover has a maximum cover limit of $3 million.

You're covered while you're applying for cover

If your application for cover or increased cover requires you to complete the Personal Statement and complete underwriting, you will be covered by interim accident cover for the same type of cover that you have applied for (death, TPD, or death and TPD) while your application is being considered by the insurer. The amount of interim accident cover you are provided is the lower of the increase you're applying for or $1.5 million.

Interim accident cover will apply from the date we receive your completed form and Personal Statement and cease when:

- the insurer makes a decision on your application;
- you withdraw, do not proceed with or cancel your application;
- 90 days have passed since your interim accident cover started;
- one of the conditions for your cover ending occurs; or
- all cover is terminated under the policy.

An interim accident cover benefit is only payable if you suffer an injury that results in:

- your death (if your application was for death cover); or
- you becoming totally and permanently disabled (if your application was for TPD cover).

No interim accident cover benefit will be payable if a claim arises directly or indirectly as a result of:

- suicide or attempted suicide; or
- intentional self-inflicted injury or illness, regardless of whether you were sane or insane at the time.

Automatic changes to the amount of your cover

When your salary changes

As your basic death and TPD cover is calculated based on your salary, it will change automatically when your salary changes, as long as your employer notifies us of the change.

It is important to note that if your salary decreases, the amount of cover you have will also decrease.

The cost of death and TPD cover

The cost of your basic death and TPD cover is paid by your employer.

The annual cost of your death and TPD cover is calculated per $1,000 of cover, based on your age.

We deduct the cost of your additional voluntary death and TPD cover from your account on the last day of each month. If you don't have sufficient funds to pay your premium when it is due, your cover will cease. We will write to you if your account balance isn't sufficient to meet the upcoming deduction.

If any aspect of your insurance cover requires completing the Personal Statement or other underwriting, your final premium is subject to assessment and confirmation by the insurer. The insurer may apply extra costs for your cover (this is known as a loading).

How to calculate the annual cost of death and TPD cover

To calculate the cost of your cover, divide the amount of cover you have by 1,000 and then multiply that value by the rate for your age shown in the table on the following page.

For example, if you are 45 years old with basic death and TPD cover of $270,000 and additional voluntary death and TPD cover of $50,000 then your total death and TPD cover would be $320,000. The annual cost would be calculated as:

$$\begin{aligned} &= ($320,000 \div $1,000) \times \text{premium at age 45} \\ &= 320 \times $1.91 \\ &= $611.20 \text{ per annum} \end{aligned}$$

Of this amount, $515.70 would be paid by your employer and $95.50 would be deducted from your account.

You will also need to consider any loading the insurer may have applied to your cover. You can find details of any loading that applies to you on the communication you received when you were accepted for cover or from Helpline on 1800 682 626.

A rebate on the cost of your cover

Equip Super claims a tax deduction on the costs we deduct from your account to pay for your insurance cover and passes this benefit back to you directly by reducing the amount of tax that is deducted from your account. This means you receive a 15% refund of the cost of your cover.

Annual cost per $1,000 of death and TPD cover

The table below shows the annual cost of death and TPD cover per $1,000 of your cover amount.

Claiming a death, terminal illness, or TPD benefit

How to make a claim

To make a claim on your death, terminal illness, or TPD cover, you or your beneficiaries should contact our Helpline on 1800 682 626.

How a claim is paid

The proceeds of an approved death, terminal illness, or TPD claim will be paid to your account in Equip Super and invested in the Cash option.

A benefit including both your account balance and any claim proceeds will then be paid based on instructions from you, your dependants, or your legal personal representative (i.e. your estate). You can find more information in our How super works guide.

Death claims

Should you pass away, a death benefit is generally paid to your dependant (or dependants), or to your legal personal representative. If you don't have any dependants or a legal personal representative, the Trustee may use their discretion to pay the benefit to another person.

Terminal illness claims

If you have death cover, you are also covered if you are diagnosed with a terminal illness.

To make a terminal illness claim, you will need to provide evidence that 2 doctors, including one who is a specialist practising in the relevant field, have certified that they believe your condition is likely to lead to your death within 24 months. The date of diagnosis of the terminal illness must have been while you had death cover.

Any terminal illness claim approved is an advance payment of your death cover and will be the lesser of your death cover amount or $3 million. If your death cover is higher than $3 million, then any residual death cover will continue and a further claim may be paid after your death. When a terminal illness claim is accepted, or if your death cover was lower than $3 million, your TPD cover will end.

Once you lodge a terminal illness claim, you are no longer eligible to increase the amount of any of your cover or reinstate any cover you previously had.

If you're on unpaid leave and we use your salary to calculate your cover, we'll use the salary that applied before your leave started.

TPD claims

Definitions of disablement

If you were gainfully employed during the 24 months prior to your date of disablement, you can receive a benefit if you meet either part 1 or 2 of the definition.

If you were not gainfully employed during the 24 months prior to your date of disablement, you can receive a benefit if you meet part 2 of the definition.

Part 1. You are unlikely to return to work

You are unable to do any work as a result of injury or illness (whether physical or mental) for 3 consecutive months (the waiting period) and, in the opinion of the insurer, you continue to be so disabled as a result of your injury or illness that you are unlikely to resume any occupation which you are reasonably capable of performing by reason of education, training or experience, or may become reasonably suited by reasonable retraining or rehabilitation.

Part 2. Everyday Working Activities

You suffer an illness or injury:

- that has prevented you from being able to perform at least 2 of the Everyday Working Activities without assistance from another adult, despite the use of appropriate aids, for at least 6 consecutive months, and
- since you became ill or injured, you have been under the regular care and attention of a doctor for that illness or injury, and
- in the insurer's opinion, the illness or injury means that you are unlikely to ever again be able to perform at least 2 of the Everyday Working Activities without assistance from another adult, despite the use of appropriate aids, and
- in the insurer's opinion, your illness or injury means you are unlikely to ever again return to work for which you are reasonably capable of performing by reason of education, training or experience.

or

You have a psychiatric disorder.

Immediate assessment for certain illnesses and injuries

If you are unable to perform your usual job as a result of suffering one or more defined medical conditions, the insurer will waive the usual 3 month waiting period and will start the assessment of your claim on receipt of your initial claim documentation. The illnesses and injuries that can be assessed immediately are blindness, cardiomyopathy, chronic lung disease, dementia and Alzheimer's disease, diplegia, hemiplegia, loss of hearing, loss of speech, major head trauma, motor neurone disease, multiple sclerosis, muscular dystrophy, paraplegia, Parkinson's disease, primary pulmonary hypertension, quadriplegia, severe burns, severe rheumatoid arthritis, and tetraplegia.

Lodging a TPD claim after your cover has ceased

A claim for TPD will not be paid if your date of disablement is after the date that your TPD cover ceased.

If you had a formalised graded return to work which failed within 12 months, the date of disablement will be the date you first ceased work.

TPD claims while on employer approved leave

If you become permanently disabled while you are on employer approved leave:

- if your leave is unpaid, we'll use the salary that we had recorded before your leave started to calculate any TPD benefit, and/or
- if your date of disablement is after you've been on leave for 24 months, you can only receive a TPD benefit if you meet definition 2.

Exclusions — when a death, terminal illness, or TPD claim won't be paid

No claim will be paid for any part of your death and TPD cover where it arose directly or indirectly as a result of:

- war or an act of war whilst you are an active participant in that war; or
- unlawful participation in an act of terrorism; or
- you committing an illegal or criminal act; or
- you having travelled to a country listed on the Department of Foreign Affairs & Trade website dfat.gov.au as being subject to a "Do not travel" warning; or
- an illness or injury that is excluded while your cover is limited cover.

For any increase in cover you applied and were accepted for following underwriting, or while you're covered by interim accident cover, no claim will be payable if it arises directly or indirectly as a result of:

- death caused by suicide in the 13 month period commencing from the day that your increase in cover was accepted;
- disablement caused by intentional self-inflicted injury or attempted suicide regardless of whether you were sane or insane at the time; and
- any other exclusions advised to you at the time of underwriting.

No claim will be paid where the payment would expose the insurer or Equip Super to any sanction under a United Nations resolution, or any other applicable sanctions, laws, or regulations.

IP cover

Who is eligible for IP cover in Equip Super

To be eligible for IP cover in Equip Super, you must be:

- an Australian citizen, a New Zealand citizen living and working in Australia, the holder of a permanent Australian visa, or living in Australia on a temporary skilled work visa; and
- older than 15; and
- younger than 65.

These are known as the eligibility conditions. You need to meet these conditions to be able to apply for, or maintain your IP cover in Equip Super.

You can apply for IP cover

You can apply for IP of either 75% or 85% (the additional 10% would be paid as a contribution to your Equip Super account) of your salary, with a benefit period of up to 2 years and your choice of a 30, 60, or 90 day waiting period.

To apply, you will need to complete the Change insurance cover form and the Personal Statement, both of which are available from our website, equipsuper.com.au

How to change your IP cover

Increase your cover

You can apply to:

- increase your IP cover; or
- decrease your waiting period,

at any time by completing the Change insurance cover form and Personal Statement. Both of these forms are available on our website equipsuper.com.au or you can call Helpline on 1800 682 626 to request copies.

Our insurer will decide whether to accept your application as part of the underwriting process. If you are approved, your cover will increase from the date the insurer advises us.

Decrease your cover

You can:

- decrease your IP cover; or
- increase your waiting period,

at any time by completing the Change insurance cover form.

The change will be effective from the date we receive your request.

Cancel your cover

You can cancel your IP cover if you no longer need it:

- by logging into Member Online; or
- over the phone by calling Helpline on 1800 682 626; or
- by completing the Change insurance cover form.

If we receive your request to cancel your cover within 28 days of it starting, then we'll refund any premium you have paid and you won't be able to make a claim on the cover you had for that period. Otherwise, we'll cancel your cover from the date we receive your request. You won't be able to claim for any events that occur after the date your cover has been cancelled.

After your cover has been cancelled, any application for cover will be subject to underwriting and our insurer will decide whether to accept your application.

Maximum cover amount

You can apply for IP cover of up to $30,000 per month.

You're covered while you're applying for cover

If your application requires you to complete the Personal Statement and complete underwriting, you will be covered by interim accident cover while your application is being considered by the insurer. The amount of interim accident cover you are provided is the lower of the increase you're applying for or $10,000 a month.

Interim accident cover will apply from the date we receive your completed form and Personal Statement and cease when:

- the insurer makes a decision on your application;
- you withdraw, cancel or do not proceed with your application;
- 90 days have passed since your interim accident cover started;
- one of the conditions for your cover ending occurs; or
- all cover is terminated under the policy.

An interim accident cover benefit is only payable if you become totally disabled following an injury, and is only payable for a 2 year benefit period, after a 90 day waiting period.

Automatic changes to the amount of your cover

When your salary changes

As your IP cover is based on your salary, the amount of cover you have will change when your salary changes, as long as your employer notifies us of the change.

It is important to note that if your salary decreases, the amount of cover you have will also decrease.

The cost of IP cover

The annual cost of IP cover is calculated per $1,000 of annual cover, but the insurer may apply an extra cost to your cover (this is known as a loading) when they assess your application for IP.

We deduct the cost of your IP from your account on the last day of each month, based on your level of cover and age. If your account does not have sufficient funds to pay your premium when it is due, your cover will cease. We will write to you if your account balance isn't sufficient to meet your upcoming premium.

How to calculate the annual cost of IP cover

To calculate the cost of your cover, divide the amount of cover you have by 1,000 and then multiply that value by the rate for your sex, age and waiting period.

For example, if you are a 32 year old male with a salary of $100,000 and you had chosen a 75% benefit, your IP cover would be $75,000 per annum ($100,000 x 75%). This would give you a monthly benefit of $6,250 for up to 2 years.

The annual cost, if you'd chosen a 90 day waiting period would be calculated as:

= ($75,000 ÷ 1,000) x premium for a male aged 32
= 75 x $0.76
= $57 per annum

You will also need to consider any loading the insurer may have applied to your cover. You can find details of any loading that applies to you on the communication you received when you were accepted for cover or from Helpline on 1800 682 626.

A rebate on the cost of your cover

Equip Super claims a tax deduction on the costs we deduct from your account to pay for your insurance cover and passes this benefit back to you directly by reducing the amount of tax that is deducted from your account. This means you receive a 15% refund of the cost of your cover.

Annual cost per $1,000 of IP cover

The annual cost per $1,000 of annual IP cover is shown in the table below.

Claiming an IP benefit

How an IP benefit is paid

An IP benefit is paid to you when you suffer a total disability or a partial disability. You'll directly receive the lower of the amount of IP cover you have or 75% of your monthly income, paid monthly for the benefit period, from the expiry of your chosen waiting period.

The insurer will regularly review your disablement and income status during the benefit period to ensure you are still eligible for IP payments. If you return to work in a reduced capacity, you may still receive a partial benefit. The amount payable would be reduced by any actual monthly income earned or income the insurer reasonably estimates that you were capable of earning during the month of partial disability.

Super contribution benefit

Your IP benefit may also include a contribution to your Equip Super account. The contribution depends on the amount of IP cover you have and your monthly income. Where your amount of IP cover is:

- 75% or less of your monthly income, no super contribution will be paid.
- more than 75% but less than 85% of your monthly income, the super contribution paid will be the amount of your IP cover less 75% of your monthly income.
- 85% or more of your monthly income, the super contribution paid will be 10% of your monthly income.

Calculating your monthly income

The calculation of your monthly income used for paying an IP benefit is determined by your employment circumstances immediately prior to the date of disability.

- If you were a permanent employee working 15 or more hours per week for a participating employer, your monthly income is one twelfth of your annual pre-tax salary that applied immediately before you were disabled (excluding other payments your employer might pay you and excluding any income derived from a source other than your employer).
- If you directly or indirectly own all or part of the business or practice that is your employer, your monthly income is one twelfth of the annual share of the income of that business or practice generated by you in the previous 12 months, after the deduction of your share of expenses in generating that income.
- Otherwise, your monthly income is one twelfth of the pre-tax income you received over the 12 months immediately prior to your date of disability.

Offsets for other disability income

We may reduce your monthly benefit by the amount of any of the following benefits you are entitled to as a result of your inability to work:

- IP benefit payments from another insurance policy or superannuation fund
- sick leave payments made to you by your employer
- court or out-of-court settlements relating to loss of income or loss of earning capacity that are directly or indirectly related to the illness or injury that forms the basis of your benefit being paid
- worker's compensation or motor accident compensation payments
- accident compensation or other similar benefits paid under State, Territory or Federal legislation, such as the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

But, your benefit will not be reduced by:

- income stream payments through a superannuation fund
- income earned from your investments, including rental income
- lump sum total and permanent disability, trauma or terminal illness benefit payments (including lump sum superannuation benefits)
- annual leave or long service leave entitlements paid to you by your employer
- Centrelink or other government welfare payments
- other termination payments (including redundancy or severance).

IP claims while on employer approved leave

If you suffer total disability or partial disability while you're on unpaid leave:

- you will only be eligible for an IP benefit from the later of the date that your employer had recorded for your return to work or the end of the waiting period, and
- the insurer will calculate the benefit you will be paid based on the monthly income that applied before your leave started.

Indexation

After 12 continuous months of receiving a total disability benefit, it will increase by the lower of the annual CPI percentage increase or 5%.

Approved rehabilitation benefit

If there is a rehabilitation program that is likely to assist with your return to work, you can ask the insurer to pay for the cost of it. If they approve your request, they will pay it in addition to any IP benefit payable to you.

Benefit period

A benefit period is the maximum time over which a claim for an IP benefit will be paid. Your IP cover has a maximum benefit period of 2 years.

Waiting period

Any claim for an IP benefit is subject to a waiting period, which is the time you need to wait before your claim can be assessed.

Your waiting period starts from the date you first receive medical advice from a doctor who certifies that you were totally disabled on that day. Once your claim has been accepted, payment will be made during the following month and will cover any amount in arrears commencing from the end of the waiting period.

When applying for cover, you can choose a waiting period of 90, 60 or 30 days.

What if I return to work during the waiting period?

If you return to work during the waiting period and the return proves unsuccessful due to the injury or illness causing total disability, then the original waiting period will continue if you returned to work for no more than 10% of the waiting period.

Exclusions — when an IP claim won't be paid

No IP claim will be paid where it arose directly or indirectly as a result of:

- war or an act of war whilst you are an active participant in that war;
- you committing an illegal or criminal act;
- you having travelled to a country listed on the Department of Foreign Affairs & Trade website dfat.gov.au as being subject to a "Do not travel" warning;
- intentional self-inflicted injury or illness, or attempted suicide, regardless of whether you were sane or insane at the time;
- normal and uncomplicated pregnancy or childbirth. This exclusion includes multiple pregnancy, threatened or actual miscarriage, participation in an IVF or similar programme, discomfort commonly associated with pregnancy (such as morning sickness, backache, varicose veins, ankle swelling, bladder problems);
- any other exclusions advised to you at the time of underwriting.

No claim will be paid where the payment would expose the insurer or Equip Super to any sanction under a United Nations resolution, or any other applicable sanctions, laws, or regulations.

Hazardous occupations

Generally, IP is not available if you work in one of the hazardous occupations listed at the back of this guide.

If you already have IP cover and change to an occupation that is listed, you will need to apply for approval from the insurer to continue your IP cover by completing the Hazardous occupation advice form available for download from our website. Note that no claim will be payable if your job is considered hazardous without the insurer having given prior approval.

What happens to my cover while I am on employer approved leave?

Your death, TPD, and IP cover will continue while you are on leave, provided there are sufficient funds in your account to pay for your cover.

Please read the information in the Claiming a death, terminal illness, or TPD benefit and Claiming an IP benefit sections about how periods of unpaid leave may affect benefits that you are entitled to.

What happens to my cover if I am overseas?

Any death, TPD, or IP cover you have with us will continue if you choose to work overseas provided that you remain a member of Equip Super and continue to meet the eligibility conditions.

You may also need to return to Australia to make a TPD, terminal illness, or IP claim.

If you become entitled to an IP benefit whilst you are overseas, the benefit will only be paid for a total of 6 months whilst you remain overseas. However, if you remain entitled to the benefit, your benefit will again commence being paid from the date you return to Australia.

What happens to my cover if I leave my employer?

Your employer will let us know when you're no longer working for them and we'll write to you to let you know that we will transfer your account to our Equip MyFuture product. This transfer will happen automatically 35 days after we write to you.

If your account balance at the time of transfer is over $6,000 and you are over 25 years of age, then the level of cover you have will be transferred to Equip MyFuture as a fixed dollar value (fixed cover). The cost of your death and TPD cover will increase as part of this change, but the cost of IP cover, if any, will stay the same. If you do not meet those thresholds, your default cover will be switched off upon transfer.

What happens to my cover if I ask my employer to make contributions to another fund?

If you ask your employer to direct contributions to a different super fund, then we will write to you to let you know that we will transfer your account to our Equip MyFuture product. This transfer will happen automatically 35 days after we write to you.

If your account balance at the time of transfer is over $6,000 and you are over 25 years of age, then the level of cover you have will be transferred to Equip MyFuture as a fixed dollar value (fixed cover). The cost of your death and TPD cover will increase as part of this change, but the cost of IP cover, if any, will stay the same. If you do not meet those thresholds, your default cover will be switched off upon transfer.

When your cover ends

Your insurance cover will cease under certain circumstances including:

- you reach age 65; or
- you commence service with the armed forces of any country other than the Australian Defence Force Reserves whilst performing duties in Australia; or
- you cease to be an Equip Super member; or
- you advise us that you no longer wish to be covered; or
- you cease to be an Australian citizen, a New Zealand citizen living and working in Australia, the holder of a permanent Australian visa, or living in Australia on a temporary skilled work visa; or
- you have insufficient funds in your account to meet the next premium that falls due; or
- you commence active service with the armed forces of any country, other than the Australian Defence Force Reserves whilst performing duties in Australia; or
- your super account has been inactive (we haven't received any amount for you, and you haven't told us you want to keep your cover) for 16 months; or
- for death (including terminal illness) and TPD, you claim a TPD benefit or your dependants claim a death benefit and the insurer admits that benefit; or
- for death (including terminal illness), the insurer admits a terminal illness claim and pays a benefit equal to your total death benefit; or
- for IP, you permanently retire from the workforce; or
- you die; or
- you make a fraudulent claim.

Once your cover ceases, it will not restart automatically. You will need to apply for cover and complete underwriting.

Reinstating cover

If your cover has ceased due to your super account being inactive for 16 months, you can apply to have your cover reinstated without underwriting provided that your request is received within 30 days of the date on which your cover ceased.

Your cover will be reinstated effective on the date that we receive your request. Your cover will also be limited cover for 12 months from the date it is reinstated. No claim will be paid if you suffer an illness or injury and your date of disablement is before the date your cover was reinstated (during the period you had no cover).

If your cover has ceased due to any other reason than inactivity, or if we receive your reinstatement request more than 30 days after the date on which your cover ceased, then you will need to complete underwriting and be approved by our insurer.

Information required by the insurer when claiming

If you make a claim, the insurer will ask you to provide information to support your claim. The cost of providing this information is at your own expense however if you are asked to attend an interview or medical appointment arranged for you by the insurer, the insurer will pay the cost of it.

Information from the insurer (MetLife) – The duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation

Care must be taken to answer all questions we ask as part of your insurance application honestly and accurately. Otherwise, you may not be able to rely on your insurance when it's needed the most.

When you apply for life insurance, we will ask you a number of questions.

Our questions will be clear and specific. They will be about things such as your health and medical history, occupation, income, lifestyle, pastimes, and other insurance.

The answers given in response to our questions are very important. We use them to decide if we can provide cover to you and, if we can, the terms of the cover and the premium we will charge.

The duty to take reasonable care

When applying for insurance, there is duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation.

A misrepresentation could be made if an answer is given that is false, only partially true, or that does not fairly reflect the truth. This means when answering our questions, you should respond fully, honestly, and accurately.

The duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation applies any time you answer our questions as part of an initial application for insurance, an application to extend or make changes to existing insurance, or an application to reinstate insurance.

You are responsible for all answers given, even if someone assists you with your application.

We may later investigate the answers given in your application, including at the time of claim.

Consequences of not complying with the duty

If there is a failure to comply with the duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation, it can have serious consequences for your insurance, such as those explained below:

Potential consequences	Additional explanation	Impact on claims
Your cover being avoided	This means your cover will be treated as if it never existed	Any claim that has been made will not be payable
The amount of your cover being changed	Your cover level could be reduced	If a claim has been made, a lower benefit may be payable
The terms of your cover being changed	We could, for example, add an exclusion to your cover meaning claims for certain events will not be payable	If a claim has been made for an event that is now excluded, it will not be payable

If we believe there has been a breach of the duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation, we will let you know our reasons and the information we rely on and give you an opportunity to provide an explanation.

In determining if there has been a breach of the duty, we will consider all relevant circumstances.

The rights we have if there has been a failure to comply with the duty will depend on factors such as what we would have done had a misrepresentation not been made during your application process and whether or not the misrepresentation was fraudulently made.

If we decide to take some action on your cover, we will advise you of our decision and the process to have this reviewed or make a complaint if you disagree with our decision.

Guidance for answering our questions

When answering our questions, please:

- Think carefully about each question before you answer. If you are unsure of the meaning of any question, please ask us before you respond.
- Answer every question that we ask you.
- Do not assume that we will contact your doctor for any medical information.
- Answer truthfully, accurately, and completely. If you are unsure about whether you should include information, please include it, or check with us.
- Review your application carefully. If someone else helped prepare your application (for example, your adviser), please check every answer (and make corrections if needed) before the application is submitted.

Other important information

Your application for cover will be treated as if you are applying for an individual 'consumer insurance contract'. For this reason, the duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation applies.

Before your cover starts, we may ask about any changes that mean you would now answer our questions differently. As any changes might require further assessment or investigation, it could save time if you let us know about any changes when they happen.

If after the contract starts, you think you may not have met your duty, please contact us immediately we'll let you know whether it has any impact on the cover.

It's important that you understand this information and the questions we ask, so if you have any questions, please contact our Helpline on 1800 682 626

For most underwriting cases, the first and only step in this process is usually to complete the Personal Statement.
